Dear Mrs. Robbins:

I have hopes of tackling National Coin Week a little different this year. It was suggested at our board meeting in August that a committee be appointed from the various numismatic media to set forth any new rules for observation of coin week and, as yet, most of the preparations are still in committee.

I hope to have the rules ready and the theme also ready for announcement with the next week or so.

The ANA plaques that you are inquiring about which show the member's name and number have not been produced by the association but by one of our members and you can find his advertisement on page 1529 of the November issue of The Numismatist.

Under separate cover, we are sending the blanks that you requested for the ANA Hall of Fame.

Gladys, looking out my window right now and seeing more than one foot of snow on the ground makes me wish that we were at a TMA convention right now.

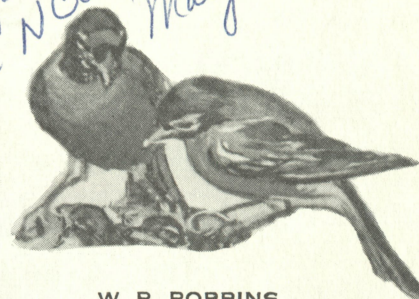

Sincerely,

EDWARD C. ROCHETTE

Dear Mr. Rochette:

I'll appreciate your using what you can of the enclosed pictures and news items. When you have them ready, we would like the NCW rules, and theme. We're carefully keeping track of "points", even though we don't know whether they count yet. If I live that long, I'm entering as an individual in 1969.

Could you send us something about the ANA plaques you have for a member and his number? Jig Adams widow wanted to have one made of her husband's ANA membership. Also, if they are ready, may we have 10 of 15 of the blanks to nominate Jig Adams to the ANA Hall of Fame? A number of our members want to make this gesture, even if the competition is so steep we don't get him in this first time... Those of us who were nursed along into the hobby through his sage advice, and it seems we are legend, want to do this.

Sincerely,

Gladys Robbins

I'm enclosing a stamped envelope for the pictures you don't use.
